Area Forensic Contest Slated

Eighteen Grayling High School students will participate in the strict Forensic Contest scheduled to be held at Lake City during a week of March 21. The school administration has not been notified of the exact date, only that it will be before March 26.

This year eight separate events will be held. Extempore speech has been split into two events, one for boys and one for girls. Radio broadcasting and Reading Theatre have been added as new events this spring. The other contests are original oratory, declamation, dramatic reading, and humorous dramatic reading. Competitors in the district will be Grayling, Alaska, Lake City and Roscommon. Each school is allowed to enter two contestants in each event, with the exception of Reading Theatre, where only one unit per school is permitted.

Grayling participants either won the right to compete by winning a local contest held before the public or were selected in speech and English class competition.

George Stancil and John Sorenson will represent Grayling in Radio News Broadcasting. A half hour before the contest, they will be asked to prepare a five minute news broadcast to be given over the microphone. Judges will judge only the voice and format of the news as it comes over the loudspeaker. They will not see the speakers.

In Reading Theatre, Grayling has a dramatic unit made up of Mike Worden, Kay Jensen, Terry Wright and Dave McEvers. They will be given 15 minutes to present a scene from a dramatic play. They have chosen "The Shrike," the story of a man who has attempted suicide and is now awaiting commitment to a mental hospital.

In Extempore Speech, contestants must be prepared to speak on any question dealing with national, international, or state news. The general areas which have been selected for this year are: "The United Nations and the Emerging Nations of Asia and Africa," "Crime in the United States" and "The Programs of Governor George Romney." Robert Ashman and Steve DuBois will compete in the boys' division and Gayle Feldhauser and Carol Miller, in the girls' division. After drawing their particular question, the contestants have one hour in which to prepare a six minute talk.

In the Humorous Reading contest, Nancy Dykema is entered with a reading from "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," and Dane Madsen, with a reading from Stephen Leacock, entitled "The Dentist and the Gas."

Anne Marie Church and Karen Wedge are competing in the serious Dramatic Reading contest. Each student must prepare a number of prose and poetry readings of eight minutes in length. Fifteen minutes before the contest, they draw one of the prepared readings, which is then presented before the judges and audience.

Rural Michigan In 1980

By David D. Olson, County Natural Resource Agent

The rural scene in Michigan is changing very rapidly. Many decisions are being made that will affect the rural scene for several years ahead. Long range planning is a must. In order to encourage a range planning and assist the rural scene in Michigan in this effort, Michigan State University has completed a study of the prospects for 1980. This study is called PROJECT '80.

What can we look forward to by 1980? The population of the United States is expected to increase from 205 million in 1963 to 245 million by 1980. This will be a 30 percent increase. Michigan's population will increase from 8.0 million in 1963 to 10.4 million in 1980. Many of the counties in the Upper Peninsula and Northwest Lower Michigan probably won't share in this population increase, in fact, in some counties the population will continue to decline.

The national economy will have checked the trillion dollar level by 1980, enough to provide the population with disposable incomes of

$3,000 per capita which will be $900 greater than 1963. The Michigan economy is projected to grow at least as rapidly as the national economy. (In 1963, wage rates in Michigan were the highest in the nation.)

People will be more affluent, and they will have more leisure time. The average work week will be 4 days. Employees will have an additional week of vacation time and will be retiring at earlier ages.

Increased recreational demands resulting from more leisure time will prompt more intensive use of Northern Michigan wild lands, lakes and streams. Danger of water pollution in Northern Michigan will be upon us. Good land use planning, including zoning will be a necessity in all areas if we are to avoid recreational slums.

Will counties in this area be ready for the changes that are coming towards us? How do we prevent recreational slums and dirty streams? Every citizen should take stock of what is happening around him. Are you finding it more difficult to hunt or fish because of population pressures?

Has your old favorite hunting grounds changed ownership and become closed to the public? Do you believe that fifty foot lots in local subdivisions will preserve the natural beauty of Northern Michigan? Nobody has all the answers to these questions, but everyone should participate in solving the problems. If you desire additional information on Project '80 contact Dave Olson at the Osceola-Crawford Cooperative Extension Office in Mio.

Named on the honorable mention list besides Wright were: Larry Burkhardt of Pellston, Sam Morrow of Gaylord, Dave Southwell of Mancelona and Fred Wabanimee of Charlevoix.

Eight of the eleven man honor squad are seniors with three juniors listed. Juniors are: Gunderson of Boyne City, Noiroit of Gaylord and Smith of Charlevoix. In the honorable mention class are two seniors, two juniors and a sophomore. The juniors are: Burkhardt of Pellston and Morrow of Gaylord with Wabanimee of Charlevoix, the lone sophomore.

Sunday's Detroit Free Press All State selections gave Terry Walker of Gaylord a first team center spot, Bielas of Pellston won a third team selection and Dreth and St. Germain were given honorable mention.

Clare Teacher Seeks G.O.P. Senate Nomination

Forrest Meek, a high school teacher from Clare, Michigan, will seek the Republican nomination for State Senator for the 36th district it was announced today.

A native of Michigan and a 1963 graduate of Michigan State University, Meek announced his intention of filling the office that will be vacated by Senator Guy Vanderjagt of Cadillac.

Meek, a former debater for Michigan State University, is not mid-In-a-meeting held Thursday evening by his supporters, he forcefully voiced his convictions on the responsibilities of the office he is seeking.

His primary concerns are to improve communications between Lansing and the citizens of Michigan, to stop the waste of Michigan's natural resources, and to prepare for Michigan's economic future.

It was his interest in promoting conservation of Michigan forests, prevention of pollution of streams, and maintaining conservation controls that initially motivated Meek to run for the office that will be vacated by Vanderjagt.

Although now a school teacher, Meek has kept in contact with people in other occupations through summer jobs he has had to supplement his teaching income.

The former platoon leader in the regular U. S. Army has worked on construction crews, industrial jobs, as a salesman and as a truck driver.

A newcomer to Michigan's political scene, Meek will spend much time acquainting the people of the 36th district with his ideas and ambitions. Meek, who works at a number of jobs, intends to talk with as many individuals and groups as possible, so that he and his views are well known, before the primary election.

Garden Club To Meet

EASTER SEAL CAMPAIGN

There are far too many crippled people even in this enlightened day and age who need help and aren't getting it. We ask that anyone who knows of a crippled child or adult who is "suffering in silence" suggest to that person or his family that the Easter Seal Society has extensive rehabilitation services available or report the need to the Easter Seal Society. There are three reasons why a handicapped person might not be receiving needed treatment. They are: 1. He doesn't know that facilities are available. 2. He or his family clings to the old fashioned idea that a crippling condition is shameful, or 3. He has little money and doesn't want to accept "charity." We urge any person with a handicap to bring a relative or friend and contact us and let us help you find the help he requires. As for compensations about accepting charity, the Easter Seal Society believes that every patient or his family should be given the opportunity to contribute to the rehabilitation of the best he can but anyone with a handicapped person in his household knows the terrific expense involved in purchasing the needed equipment, and we are willing to help.

Our local campaign runs from March 1st to April 10th. We have canisters in the stores for your donations and the Seals have been sent.

Record Tax Payments For Conservation Lands

LANSING — Michigan's Department of Conservation has nearly completed the job of mailing checks for over $1 million to 82 counties as 1965 payments in lieu of taxes involving state lands under its jurisdiction.

The record payments, up about $200,000 from last year, apply to more than four million acres of state-owned conservation lands including state forests, parks and recreation areas, game areas, and public water access sites.

Of the total, some $805,000 has been paid out for tax-reverted and gifted state lands throughout Michigan, and for purchased conservation properties in the northern two-thirds of the state.

For these types of land, payments are made at a flat rate of 20 cents an acre. Under legislation passed last year, the per-acre figure has been raised five cents which accounts for most of the increase in 1965 payments.

The Department's highest 1965 payments went to these counties: Lapeer, $57,483.40; Schoolcraft, $56,839.40; Oakland, $56,621.15; and Marquette, $52,640.57. Top figure for the northern Lower Peninsula was Roscommon county's $40,630.87. Crawford County's share was $32,598.39.

To Hold Open House

An open house will be held Saturday, March 19th at the Grayling Sportsman's Club on Old 93 from 12 noon to 4:00 p. m. honoring the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel K. Colten Sr., of 12216 Archdale, Detroit and Lake Margaret, Grayling.

Hosting the party will be their three children, Samuel Colten of Grayling, Mrs. Dorothy Taylor of Livonia and Robert Colten of Detroit. The couple have 12 grandchildren. If for some reason, you did not receive any seals this year, please call either Marge Haugh or Lora Gould and we will see that you receive some. We offer many services to both children and adults who are crippled and also have a referral service for direct residents to other appropriate health and welfare sources. We urge all parents, doctors, nurses, clergymen and other individuals and organizations to refer the handicapped person in need of assistance to our local society. We have our money here locally and can help you faster and more efficiently than if it had to go through other channels. The local society is one of 1,426 affiliates of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults fighting crippling on a national, state and community level. The past year we have purchased urinal bags, crutches, shoes, truss, back brace, leg brace, sent children for special examinations, paid for EEG tests, paid for bone specialists to examine and evaluate children and we do have a nice loan closet which you can borrow from at any time. Your dollars help us carry on these services. Please give to our local Easter Seal campaign now.

REQUIRE PERMITS FOR SPRING BURNING

It is that time of year when people will be cleaning their yards of leaves and dead grass left from last fall. Many will want to burn this debris, others will haul it to the dump. If you are going to burn, we ask that you use extra care (a large percentage of spring fires are caused by debris burning) and do the burning at a time when conditions are most favorable. Don't burn if the wind is blowing. If it should start up while you are burning, put the fire out and wait till the wind has gone down. Try to do your burning in the evening after the wind has gone down, and remember, the fire should not be left until it is dead out.

BURNING PERMITS are required by law any time the ground is not snow covered. If you live outside the city or village limits, permits can be obtained by telephone or in person at the Conservation Equipment Station, 1/2 mile north on Old 27, telephone number 348-4031, or 348-3191 after 6 p. m.

If you live in Grayling permits can be obtained by telephone at the city office, phone 348-2131. If you live in a residential phone area, call 348-8866 for a burning permit.

Once again, A. B. C. — always be careful with fire.

Although the girl lawyer is trying to send Maxine to the electric chair, something in Maxine catches her sympathy.

As the defense attorney continues his probing of the case, events begin to break. A surprise witness takes the stand when things look blackest for Maxine, and her mysterious past begins to clear up, but surprisingly over the objections and protests of Maxine.

Senator Hart Explains Lakes Commission

What is the Upper Great Lakes Regional Redevelopment Commission all about? How will it be run? What can northern Michigan expect from it?

These questions, Senator Philip A. Hart said today, are the ones most often asked about the newly-created government agency. "There's a lot of understandable confusion," he said, "about regional attacks on economic problems because it is a fairly new concept."

"What each person wants — and deserves — to know is: 'How will this affect me?'"

Hart, one of the redevelopment plan's earliest supporters, listed his answers to some of the commonest questions:

1. Why was the Upper Great Lakes Commission set up?

It's a recognition of the fact that an area's economic problems and its resources don't stop at state lines. The northern counties of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota share the same problems and the same opportunities. "Why not tackle them together?"

The area now consumes more tax money than it generates. The federal government just figures it will be good business in the long run to provide the kind of pump-priming investment needed to get the area on its feet as a tax producer.

2. Will the federal government furnish most of the money?

Yes, probably almost all of it. The commission that decides how much money is needed and where it can best be spent will consist of the three state governors and a federal co-chairman.

3. What sort of thing might the Commission be expected to do?

First of all, it will see that the area gets all federal assistance possible under existing programs. Right now, there are communities eligible for federal funds for, say, sewage treatment plants, but the town hasn't the staff or technical know-how to apply.

It could also recommend projects that no current program would cover and for which new legislation would be required.

4. What kind of projects might be considered?

Well, I'm sure the Commission will give close study to fishing, mining, forestry and recreation. It will also look for ways to promote industrial development. How? First, the Commission will have to decide how each dollar can best be spent. But it could build power plants—fish stocking programs, new metals markets, recreational facilities, forestry research projects, highways or vigorous education and training programs.

5. How big is the Upper Great Lakes Region?

It consists of 119 counties. The Michigan counties, numbering 45, Alcona, Alger, Alpena, Antrim, Arenac, Baraga, Benzie, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Chippewa, Clare, Crawford, Delta, Dickinson, Emmet, Gladwin, Grand Traverse, Gogebic, Houghton, Isosco, Iron, Kalkaska, Keweenaw, Lake, Leelanau, Luce, Mackinac, Manistee, Marquette, Mason, Menominee, Missaukee, Montcalm, Newaygo, Oceana, Ogemaw, Ontonagon, Osceola, Oscoda, Otsego, Presque Isle, Roscommon, Schoolcraft and Wexford.

When will all this get started? As soon as the President appoints a federal co-chairman. Then the Commission will begin holding hearings throughout the area to gather ideas and figure out priorities.

As far as I'm concerned, it can't start soon enough. Michigan's north country certainly hasn't been sharing fully in national prosperity. Its young people have been moving out for too long. It's about time for the flow to be reversed.

Remember The Thomas Flyer?

A tough little man named George Schuster, who is still alive at 93 in Springville, New York, back in 1908 rode a Thomas Flyer around the world, driving himself through Siberia and Europe, to win the incredible New York-to-Paris automobile race. He tells its story in a new book, "The Longest Auto Race", published by The John Day Company.

It was such a great feat that President Theodore Roosevelt received and praised Schuster and his crew. While the car didn't meet with everything in the recent fictionalized movie based on the race, it surmounted real difficulties, so many that when we read a short version of Schuster's story in The Reader's Digest, we wondered why every other American car today is not a Thomas Flyer.

Schuster's book gives the answer. Immediately after his triumph, the Thomas factory in Buffalo worked day and night filling orders. But the next two models were "lemons", not only inferior to rival cars but more troublesome than the Thomas that won the race. Hundreds were returned to the factory. In 1912, the Thomas company went bankrupt.

It seems that there is a moral for 1966 as well as 1908 in this story. It is that stunts are not a substitute for quality, character and reliability in an important product.

Time To End Coercion Methods

economics, government, business, labor questions and the affairs of the man on the street are so interwoven today that anything affecting one affects them all.

In the recent steel price controversy, government officials assumed the authority for price fixing as they did recently with aluminum and copper, without wage controls. The excuse was to retard inflation, without any attempt to control inflationary measures.

In the New York transit strike, union officials told millions of citizens they would be denied transportation until the unions got what they demanded. The public interest was secondary.

In both cases, the power of coercion was used.

Free enterprises and the people are the ones whose rights and security are trampled on by such methods. The way to restrict abuses of uncontrolled power rests in the hands of the people — the man on the street. He can show his resentment of coercion methods by government, industry or labor organizations by proposing and supporting measures to better control such practices. The time for him to start is now. He will never get relief from those permitted to practice compulsion and coercion. He must spike their guns by law.

If the first part of your vehicle identification number is here, you might be a winner.

Here's how it works. Look at the first symbols (the prefix) on your vehicle identification slip. Then look at the symbols listed above. If you find yours on the list, you've taken the first step toward being a winner. Now go see your Buick dealer. He has a list of 72 winners posted in his showroom. If you see your entire vehicle identification number on the poster—the symbols plus the rest of the numbers—$2332 cash is yours. (If your prefix isn't listed in this ad, don't give up. Your numbers may have been posted during the past few weeks. And every week there are 72 new winners posted on the showroom wall. So watch for next week's list of new symbols in this newspaper.) No slogan to invent, no puzzles to solve. In fact, you don't even have to own a Buick to have a winning number. While you're in the showroom, get a good look at the Buick Special. The $2332.00* happens to be its price. *Manufacturer's suggested retail price for Special V-6, 4-cyl. coupe. Price includes Federal Excise Tax and suggested dealer delivery and handling charge. Contest Rules. Residents of Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska may, if they prefer, send in a postcard to R. L. Polk and Co., P. O. Box 1347, Detroit, Michigan 48231 and receive the weekly list of winning numbers by mail for comparison with their own vehicle identification number. An official entry form will be included. Sweepstakes limited to persons over 21 living in the continental U.S. Not valid in Florida or states where prohibited by law.

Buick's $1,000,000 Sweepstakes.

There's an authorized Buick dealer near you. See his Double-Checked used cars, too.

Are you paying more than 11 1/2¢ a gallon for your residential heating oil?

If you are, you're paying too much to heat your home.

If you are now using natural Gas (or plan to) for cooking, water heating, clothes drying or Gaslights, and your use is equal to that of our average residential customer, you can get your Gas for heating under our special service rate at a cost equivalent to fuel oil priced at just 11 1/2¢ a gallon. And the nice thing about our Gas rates is that the more you use, the less it costs per unit. That's a bargain in anybody's book. (Can't pay for the cost of conversion right now? Here's good news: Whether you convert your present furnace, or even install a new Gas furnace, Michigan Consolidated will pay for it and its installation by a qualified heating contractor. And it won't cost you a penny until October 1, 1966!) So why not make your present oil furnace more economical this winter? Have it converted to economical natural Gas. Then you can start putting your money in the bank for a change. Instead of in your furnace. For full details, call us or your heating contractor today.

Minor, who himself has a Master of Arts degree in psychology and is certified to teach psychology in the Community Colleges of Michigan, appears well qualified to explore the psychological symbolism employed by Henry James to "express his ideas on mental illness and perversion." The psychological symbolism of the seasons, Minor writes, "confronts the reader on almost every page of the story." In the novel we enter "the twilight zone of a mind that is destroyed by itself.
